Arts centre saved from council cuts

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

THE future of Haverhill Arts Centre appears to be secure at least until 2012.

Fears were raised earlier this year that the centre could close due to council budget cuts.

But St Edmundsbury Borough Council chiefs said this week that there were no plans to change the current funding arrangements for the centre, which run until Town clerk Gordon Mussett warned in August that redundancies at the centre were likely as the town council would not be able to fill the gap left by a cut in cash from the borough council.

He said in a written report that the town council would have to make 60 per cent of its staff redundant if it was unable to increase council tax by 9.7 per cent over two years.

The town's leisure centre has also escaped funding cuts as St Edmundsbury is not planning any changes in its arrangements with Abbeycroft Leisure, which runs the centre.

Cllr John Griffiths, borough council leader, said: "We have invested very heavily in Haverhill and we are not looking to do anything that will affect front-line services and we hope that will continue.

Tiny tots hit the spot!

painted paper plates bright colours and decorated the outside of their building with

Each plate was sponsored by friends and family of the children, raising more money for the BBC's annual Children in

The youngsters also had their faces painted with spots and decorated hats with spots.

Elaine Hatfield, supervisor, said: "It has been fantastic. The children loved it. They really enjoyed decorating the cakes and enjoyed making the spots and having their faces painted.

SCHOOL pupils are helping to sort three and a half tons of donated books so they can be sold for charity.

The books, most of which were collected in a book bank in Haverhill, are being sorted into categories by youngsters at the town's Chalkstone Middle School.

They are due to be sold at Thurlow Village Hall on November 27 and 28 to raise money for the Prader Willi Syndrome Association and St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds.

It is being organised by Rose Felloni, of Sorrel Walk, Haverhill, whose daughter Deena Renyard died as a result of Prader Willi Syndrome five years ago.

Mrs Felloni, 64, said: "My main object is to raise awareness and understanding about PWS. People who have it have a missing chromosome which means they literally eat themselves to death.

"Deena weighed 35 stones when she died at the age of 38. If it can be diagnosed early enough, the condition can be managed.

Public can attend more committees

A COUNCIL is now offering members of the public a chance to attend the meetings of working parties previously held behind closed doors.

Cllr John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, said: "The public have always been able to view the papers online, but because certain meetings have previously been closed, they couldn't see the process by which decisions are made.

"Whatever the original reasons may have been for this, I am happy that from now on the public will be welcome to attend these formally constituted councillor meetings."

The meetings of the following emergency planning working party, grant working party, Haverhill area working party, joint staff consultative working party, public venue (The apex) working party and rural area working party.

This is in addition to the council, cabinet, committees, sub-committees and working parties that are already open to the public.

Papers for all these meetings are distributed five working days before the meeting and can be found online at www.stedmunds bury.gov.uk by clicking on council papers.

Decisions to spend money are made by the cabinet and council and their work is monitored by the scrutiny committees.

All these meetings and the regulatory committees such as development control are open to the public. The cabinet and scrutiny committee also ask other sub committees and working parties to undertake work on their behalf and to make recommendations for consideration.

To date some of these have been open to the public to attend, but others have not.

The meetings that will remain closed to the public are the remuneration panel, the mayoral advisory committee, the officer appointments committee, the shared services steering group, St Edmundsbury growth area partnership board, the staffing appeals committee, and the standards committee assessment sub committee.

This is on top of the "task and finish" groups that are not subject to the formal meeting rules, procedures and production of documents.

Judge tells fraudster 'expect jail next time'

A FRAUDSTER who cleared out his elderly father's bank account has been warned by a judge that he will be jailed if he fails to complete unpaid community work.

John Apps, 41, is subject to a suspended eight-month prison sentence imposed in June after he was convicted of fraud by abuse of trust.

At the same time he was ordered to do 100 hours of unpaid community work and be supervised by a probation officer for 12 months.

Apps, of Bellings Road, Haverhill, was brought back to Ipswich Crown Court last Friday for missing two unpaid work sessions and failing to provide acceptable excuses.

The court previously heard that Apps, and his wife Carol, who was given a four-month suspended sentence, had "bled dry" his 80year-old father John Apps.

They withdrew £14,693 from his accounts while arrears of rent, council tax and electricity payments built up at his home in Gravs. Essex.

Apps' father died before the case came to court but he previously made statements that the couple had not got his permission to take money from his accounts – other than to pay hills

Prosecutor Richard Kelly told the court that since the unpaid work order was imposed on Apps he had completed just 12 hours.

He missed appointments in August and September and later produced letters from his dentist and his employer which referred to different dates.

Shereen Dyer, defence barrister, said Apps, who worked as a lorry driver, had suffered a back and knee injury at work which made it difficult to do the unpaid gardening work allocated by the Probation Service.

She said Apps's job could be at risk if he had to do more gardening.

But Judge John Devaux said having heard evidence about Apps during the trial he was "not the least bit surprised" that there were now problems with the order.

He extended the supervision by the Probation Service for an extra three months and warned Apps: "Expect to go to prison next time"

New push to to make people even greener

A NEW initiative will help people to reduce their waste.

The Chimswell estate area in Haverhill is one of only eight places in Suffolk to have been chosen to spearhead the special fight against waste.

The Streets Ahead project, organised by Suffolk Waste Partnership (made up of the county, district and borough councils) is signing up households to reduce their overall waste.

Clir Peter Stevens, St Edmundsbury Borough Council cabinet member for the environment, said: "We know the public are frustrated by unnecessary packaging and this great initiative gives them an opportunity to think about ways to avoid waste.

"Residents, schools and businesses in each community will be working towards a common aim. I am confident we'll do very well."

Cllr Roy Barker, from the waste partnership, said: "Suffolk residents are recycling and composting around half of their waste, putting us among the best performers in the country. We now need to work towards reducing our waste even more."

As part of the promotion, a 'smoothie bike' has been in action at Sainsbury's in Haverhill to highlight in a fun way how residents can use up their fruit and vegetables, as studies show many people throw away unused fresh goods

Crash couple are 'lucky to be alive'

A COUPLE say they are lucky to be alive after their car skidded on oil or diesel and crashed at a roundabout on the A1307.

Security officer Christopher Garnett, 65, was being driven to Addenbrooke's Hospital for a heart appointment by his wife June when the crash happened last Thursday.

The couple, from Woodcock Close, Haverhill, escaped serious injury. But their Wregistration Citroen Xsara was a write-off after hitting road signs.

Mr Garnett, 65, said:

"We got to the roundabout on the A1307 at Babraham and it just slid straight across the road and ended up on the island.

"It was raining but there was diesel all over the road. It was like a skating rink. We were just going at a steady pace. It was lucky we weren't going any faster.

"There were two fire engines, three or four police cars, two ambulances and a paramedic. But fortunately we were just shook up. There should be some way of warning people when there's oil on the road."

Borough's move to cut budget by £2m

From Page

St Edmundsbury is having to cut its budget from £7 million to £5 million over the next four years.

It is waiting for the Government's announcement about funding support for the next financial year, which is due early December, but it is expecting a 28 per cent reduction

Nearly 20 council jobs which became vacant during the year will not be filled to save a total of £290,000.

All overtime payments have been stopped and a cut in agency work will save £48,000.

The council is also aiming at generating new income totalling £262,000 saving £109,000 on procuring supplies an increasing parking and other charges to bring in £193,000. A reduction in the number of committee meetings will save around £5,000.

The borough is also aiming to save £58,000 by making better use of its offices at Lower Dows Slade, Haverhill.

Talks are to be held with voluntary organisations and police about possibly renting some of the space available in the offices.

Liz Watts, the borough's head of finance, said the council could have closed the office to save money. But it intended to protect its services in the town.

It is also saving money by transferring seven staff, who are involved in processing benefits, to the Thetford-based Anglia Revenues Partnership.

The partnership was set up several years ago by the borough council with neighbouring Forest Heath District Council.

It has since been joined by East Cambridgeshire District Council and handles council tax and benefits for all three councils.

Oh, what a lovely performance!

STUDENTS at Haverhill's Samuel Ward Academy staged a production of the musical Oh What a Lovely War this week

The show, staged yesterday and today, was described as "one of the most challenging" to have been tackled by the school.

The musical takes a satirical view of the First World War and was first performed in the early 1960s. It chronicles the history and horrors of the war, through the medium of an end-of-the-pier show, performed by a troupe of pierrots the highly popular seaside entertainers of the time. # Thieves carry off TV on scambler motorbike

BURGLARS carted off a 42-inch television on the back of a motorbike after raiding a social club.

Thousands of pounds damage was caused to Clare Social Club, in the village near Haverhill.

The crime was compared to cartoon show Wacky Races after club chairman Gary Spittle saw the two culprits speeding off on a green scrambler motorcycle with the £500 television between them. Around £100 was also taken from a fruit machine in the early morning

The wall the screen was ripped from was damaged, as were windows, the power supply – which was cut off – and the alarm system.

The suspects were wearing green helmets as they made their escape just after 5am.

Academy status 'just fantastic'

A SCHOOL has been given the official go-ahead to convert to an academy.

Samuel Ward, in Haverhill, was awarded the status by the Secretary of State for Education Michael Gove earlier this month.

Headteacher Howard Lay said: "This is a fantastic achievement for a highly aspirational and successful school. It means that we will be able to sustain our high outcomes, positive ethos and further develop the school brand at a time when the economy is contracting.

"As an international school we have strong links with China, India and Germany which give so many opportunities to our young

Samuel Ward has been in the top 5 per cent of schools nationally for three years and received an "outstanding" Ofsted two years ago.

Mr Lay added: "The conversion also comes at an exciting time for "A £3.5 million new build will be opening early next year to accommodate up to 400 new Year 7 and 8 students, a new curriculum will enable students to begin GCSE courses in Year 9 so that they can begin A-levels in Year 11 and increased investment in the school means that tutor groups will be a maximum of 14 pupils ensuring high quality care and guidance.

Peter Thomas, chair of governors, said: "Samuel Ward is a truly inspirational school and academy status provides the governors with the power and freedom to ensure its unique ethos and approach is not only maintained but shared with others.

Work has begun on a new stateof-the art Key Stage 3 building at Samuel Ward. The building will provide accommodation for new Year 7 and 8 pupils joining the school next June as part of the Suffolk School Organisation

The building will be equipped with the latest IT infrastructure, have its own dining facilities and is adjacent to some beautiful wooded countryside.

It is also designed to be sustainable and energy efficient with reduced CO2 emissions. The new Westfield Primary School is being built adjacent to this building with a shared energy centre including a wood chip biomass boiler.

Paramedics were sent to the scene and the air ambulance was launched but the man was declared dead, at around 12.45pm yesterdav. The death is not being treated as suspicious. An inquest was not opened today but could be opened tomorrow.

In Loving Memory of Evelyn HARTLEY 4/9/1928 -20/11/2005

Time is kind. Though all must suffer loss and grief, Time is kind and brings relief, The passing of the healing years, mends the hurt and dries the tears, At first hearts and sorrow numbs,

No word consoles no comfort comes.

But slowly to the quiet mind life comes back for Time is kind.

TRIBUTES have been paid to a founder of a sailing group for people with disabilities and a group which aids volunteers.

of Texas'

Eric Bratt, who was vice-chairman of the Haverhill Association of Voluntary Organisations (HAVO), has died aged 81.

Mick Smith, chairman of HAVO, said: We will all miss Eric. He had a heart the size of Texas and would help anyone in need if he could. He will be missed by us

Mr Bratt was a former police officer in Manchester's tough Moss Side district and later became a member of the secret intelligence service MI6, serving in Berlin.

He moved to Haverhill in the late 1970s on his retirement and became involved in Neighbourhood Watch and the Crime Prevention Panel.

Mr Bratt, who lived in Kingfisher Close, on the town's Chalkstone estate, helped form HAVO and also set up and became chairman of WASH Sailability, a group based at Lackford Lakes, near Bury St Edmunds, which provides sailing activities for people with disabilities.

He was also a volunteer with the Haverhill Blind and Partially Sighted (BAPS) group and volunteered with National Trust at Ickworth House, near Bury St Edmunds.

He is survived by his three daughters.

His funeral will be held at 3pm on Thursday, November 25, at West Suffolk crematorium, near Bury St Edmunds.

His family have asked mourners to make a donation to any charity instead of sending flowers.

The future moving in.

Cat dumped in box on housing estate

A CAT found dumped in a cage on a housing estate is being cared for by the RSPCA.

The black cat, which has been named Bobby by RSPCA staff, was discovered in a cat carrier on a green in Kirtling Place, Haverhill, on the morning of Sunday, Nov-ember 7.

Just a week before, the charity was called after three kittens were found dumped in a box beside the busy A143 road near the town. Two survived, but one died.

Bobby is about a year old and has not been neutered.

He was discovered by a resident in a grey cat carrier which had a green door. Some cat biscuits had been left in a dish in the cage.

RSPCA Inspector Richard Lythgoe said: "It is really sad that we have once again had an incident of a cat being dumped in the Haverhill

"I'm not really sure why we are seeing this more frequently, it could be down to the current economic climate, but that is not an excuse.

"If anyone is struggling to cope with their animals, then they should seek help at the earliest opportunity. There are numerous charities around that would be able to offer help and support.
"Even though this cat was left with food, what would have happened if it had not been found?

"It could have died a slow and painful death." Bobby has now been taken to the RSPCA Block Fen Animal Centre, near March, where staff are hoping to find him a new home.

Anyone with information about the incident should call the RSPCA's cruelty line on 0300 1234999.

Anyone wanting to offer a home for a cat or other animal should call the Block Fen centre on 0300 1230726 or 0845 2000287.

Saved: Bobby the cat, who was found dumped in a cage in Kirtling Place, Haverhill. He is now being cared for by the RSPCA and is looking for a new home

Mandy Williamson recalled the picture. She said: "It was taken at Haverhill Sports Centre (as it was known at the time) in the upstairs practice area where today stands

"The lady presenting the cheque is Cherrie-Anne Bonham, who at the time was the resident and very lar aerobic teacher at the ntre. Cherrie-Anne was an avid animal lover and raised money through her classes for The Wood Green Animal Shelter in Heydon

"The ladies in the picture were very much the regular attendees Cherrie-Anne's classes, which at the time exceeded 100 participants, a figure not seen since those days of the late 80s or early 90s. # BUSINESS NETWORKING Get your business on the move with CXG

IF you are thinking of setting up a business, expanding an existing company, or making some investments in property, visit a brand networking event by CXG.

The company was set up five years ago by Robin and Daniel Pilley, and during its establishment the brothers came to realise the importance of building strong networks, particularly during a recession. The event, on Tuesday November 30 from 6pm-8pm, is aimed at business owners or those looking to set one up, landlords and anyone wanting advice on property investment or pensions

A series of short talks on these themes by various experts, including business coach Nick Ruddle on the five steps for growing your business, will be followed by the chance to mingle and make contact with like-minded attendees, as well as a delicious buffet and wine tasting which are included in the ticket price of £20. The company hopes this event will become a regular occurrence.

CXG has had great success since its start-up, being the only business nominated for three awards - for property sourcing, innovation and letting agent by region - at the Landlords Letting

Start-up success story: Chancellor George Osborne with CXG directors Robin and Awards. The company is also featured in the Lloyds TSB magazine, and is therefore being promoted in all branches across the country. Cementing their great networking ability, the brothers met with Chancellor George Osborne earlier this year.

The networking event will be held at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haver-

Boy arrested over blaze at family home

A BOY has been arrested in connection with a blaze which broke out at a house in Haverhill.

Mother Kim Fernandez previously told the Weekly News how the fire broke out on the landing of her house, leaving her two youngest children, Melissa, 8, and Harrison, 6, trapped in a bedroom upstairs.

Mrs Fernandez told how she was sitting watching television in the lounge of her home in Castle Lane, just after 8pm on October 7 when the lights suddenly went out.

She said: "I saw flickering coming down the landing and flames coming from the immersion tank. I could hear the children screaming because they could not get out of their room past the fire. I ran up there, but the heat knocked me back. I was terrified

"Then Reg, my husband, ran in and passed the children out to me. They got blisters because they had nothing on their feet and I burned my hands trying to get to them.

"I was screaming at my other children Rebecca, 14, and Anthony, BY JO DEEKS

12, who were downstairs, to get out. What shocked me most was the thought that I could have lost them

The fire gutted the family's home. Almost every room of the house was reduced to a blackened mess and the fire burned through the roof.

Mrs Fernandez said she was devastated by the incident and had "lost everything"

"lost everything". She added: "But I am just thankful we all got out alive "

we all got out alive."

The fire chief who led the team of six firefighters who tackled the blaze praised the couple's bravery in getting the children out.

Immediately after the incident, sub officer Neil Franklin, of Haverhill Fire Service, said: "It was a very lucky escape for the family."

■ A 16-year-old boy from Haverhill has been arrested on suspicion of arson with intent to endanger life.

He has been released on police bail to return to Bury St Edmunds police station on December 22.

Networkers mark first anniversary

A MONTHLY business networking group celebrates its first birthday this month.

The Friday Network brings together around 20 businessmen and women at the Old Red Lion in Horseheath.

It was founded by Kate Anstee, from The Time Finder Agency in Castle Camps, Jenni Bradnam, from Travel Counsellors in Kedington, and Denise Lindsell, from Hardcastle Burton LLP, in Royston.

It does not charge a membership fee and is a not-for-profit organisation.

Kate said: "We started the Friday Network because business people in the area were coming to us looking for a regular informal networking group that did not charge a membership fee.

"They wanted to have some lunch and hear from a speaker, but not necessarily a business speaker, and then informally network with other companies in the area. People seem to love the format and we are now planning some exciting new events for 2011."

The group's next meeting is tomorrow, when they will host a chilli and curry event at the Old Red Lion from 12.45pm to 2.45pm and will feature guest speaker Rosemarie Gant, a website manager and online business advisor. Tickets are £16 and can be booked online at www.fridarnetwork.com

■ The network will raise money for the Teenage Cancer Trust at a wine tasting event. Local wines from C2C Wines will be available for tasting at Birdbrook Community House, near Haverhill, on Thursday, December 2.

Residents warm to insulation scheme

THREE thousand households in the East of England have received grants to help them insulate their homes this Fastern Carbon Reduction Initiative (Eastern CRI) initiative works in partnership with local authorities to help householders get the best mix of local and national grants, and installation is carried out by local contractors Cllr Robert Everitt. St Edmundsbury Borough Council cabinet member for community, said: The importance of insulation increases with the onset of colder weather. Home-owners may find it well worth checking out what help they can get. It will save them money and wasted heat.

Some homeowners have paid just £169 for cavity wall and loft insulation, and those over 70 or qualifying for the priority group have had installation carried out free

Bet you didn't know... 20 facts to startle and amuse this Christmas

1. US scientists calculated that Santa would have to visit 822 homes a second to deliver all the world's presents on Christmas Eve, travelling at 650 miles a second.

2. Although now mostly vegetarian, in Victorian times mince pies were made with beef and spices.

3. The tradition of putting tangerines in stockings comes from the 12th century French nuns who left fruit, nuts and tangerines for the poor.

4. Nearly 60 million Christmas trees are grown each year in Europe.

5. The world's tallest Christmas tree, at 221 feet high, was erected in a Washington shopping mall in 1950.

6. The chances of a white Christmas are just one in 10 for England and Wales and one in six for Scotland and Northern Ireland.

7. Before turkey, the traditional English meal was a pig's head and mustard.

8. In 1647, after the English Civil War, Oliver Cromwell banned the celebration of Christmas. The law wasn't lifted until 1660.

9. Many parts of a Christmas tree are edible, with the needles being a good – if spiky – source of vitamin C.

10. The largest Christmas cracker – 45.72 metres and 3.04 metres in diameter – was pulled in Australia in 1991.

11. The best-selling Christmas single of all time is Bing Crosby's White Christmas, shifting more than 50 million copies worldwide since 1942.

12. In Britain, the bestselling festive track is Band Aid's 1984 single Do They Know It's Christmas?, which sold 3.5 million copies.

13. Boxing Day gets its name from all the money collected in church almsboxes for the poor.

14. The first Christmas celebrated in Britain is thought to have been in York, in 521AD.

15. The world's biggest ever turkey weighed in at a whopping 86lbs. It was sold in 1989 for £4,400.

16. The British buy 83 square kilometres of wrapping paper at

Christmas

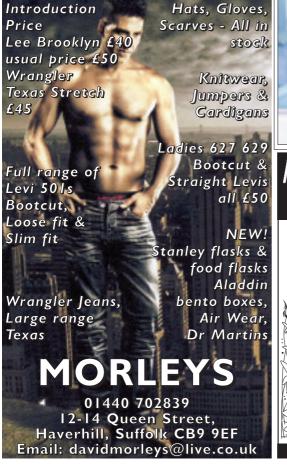

17. More than 60 million text messages get sent on Christmas Day.

18. 15,000 tonnes of brussel sprouts are bought each Christmas – and on average each person consumes 14.

19. Letters addressed to Father Christmas at 'Toyland' or 'Snow Land' get sent to Edinburgh. However, letters addressed to 'the North Pole' go to their correct destination.

20. The Queen's Christmas speech was broadcast for the first time in 1957.

The tree is a key part of it all

Every year at Christmas the tree is at the centre of the action. Here's some tips to help it sparkle

WHETHER you go with tradition and buy a healthy fake tree is the way to go. Follow these tips to buying and Nordman Fir each December, or dig out your trusty artificial one from the attic, there's no doubt that the Christmas tree is at the centre of the festive decorations.

Once you've got the perfect tree then it's time to deck it with twinkling fairy lights and sparkly decorations, ready to place those presents under for Christmas morning.

In these credit crunch times a maintaining the Christmas tree:

Cut trees should be fresh when purchased. The needles should not be dull or dried up, and the branches shouldn't be brittle. The outer needles shouldn't fall off if the tree is gently shaken.

■ After you have bought your tree it should be kept outside in a cool, shaded place, preferably standing in water until it is required indoors.

■ Before bringing the tree inside, cut about half an inch off the trunk to open up the pores, and mount it in a water-holding

■ Keep the container topped up with water - an average tree can drink a pint a day. Don't stand it near a radiator or it may dry out.

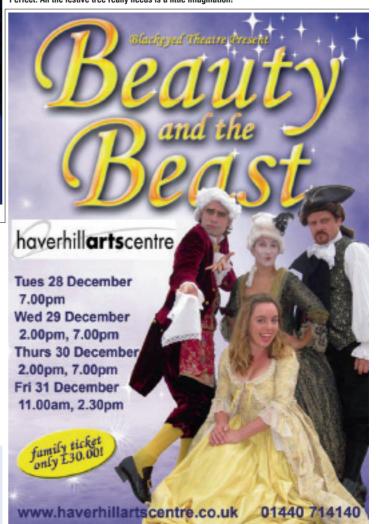

■ If you want to grow your tree after Christmas, invest in a bareroot or container grown tree with its roots growing in the pot, slowly acclimatising it to the open by putting it in a sheltered spot initially, before planting in its final home, making sure the root collar is at ground level and watering it in well.

Perfect: All the festive tree really needs is a little imagination!

Scott Sc

Preparations start here!

THERE'S lots of time to get organised for the Christmas meal – as long as you start soon!

Here's a few tips to get you started:

EARLY DECEMBER

Order your turkey or buy a frozen one now. To calculate the size you'll need, estimate 450g per person. Remember that a frozen turkey will need four or five days to thaw out. Now is also a good time to freeze a batch of mince pies or two.

A WEEK BEFORE

Start to defrost the turkey. Make a shopping list of everything you will need (don't forget pet food!) and stock up on bread and milk, which you can always freeze.

TWO DAYS BEFORE Make sure your table cloth and napkins are looking spruce, make and store your cranberry sauce and keep out a slice of bread to stale slightly for bread sauce and stuffing. If you can leave it until Christmas Eve to buy vegetables and fish, then do, but if not, buy them not.

CHRISTMAS EVE MORNING Do any last minute shopping and pick up your turkey (unless you had a frozen one.) Prepare your Christmas pudding and defrost mince pies.

AFTERNOON

Make your stuffing, but don't refrigerate or they will go soggy. Instead, leave covered in a dark cupboard. Peel your potatoes and other vegetables, and wrap up well in the fridge. Take your turkey out of the fridge and cover with foil before bed time. Make your bread sauce, set the table and hang your stocking with pride.

CHRISTMAS DAY At 7.30 pre-heat your oven, then you can treat yourself to a little break – it is Christmas, after all!

11.30am: Heat up bread sauce, warm plates and prepare sausages and pigs in blankets. Pop them in the oven.

Come noon, start steaming the pudding and open red wine to breathe.

Remember also to breathe vourself.

12.45pm: Make the roast potatoes and put some water on to boil for your other vegetables.

1.15pm: Remove your turkey from the over, and cover with foil to keep warm.

1.30pm: Remove sausages and pigs in blankets.

1.45pm: Put sprouts on to cook, heat up gravy. Dish up other food, and carve turkey.

2pm: Making sure the pudding doesn't burn in your absence – sit down and enjoy your dinner.

Bon appetit and have a very Happy Christmas.

At last! Making the festive meal worth the wait means being organised...

Christmas an wrapped up

Make your own presents

MAKE your own handmade Christmas presents – it's personal, thoughtful and will save you money.

■ Knitting. Even if you only manage one lumpy scarf, it's the time and effort you've put in to it that will make your loved one appreciate it.

Make a luxury hamper. Designer stores and delicatessens offer all sorts of pricey hampers at this time of year, but you can make exclusive versions by filling a picnic hamper with their favourite snacks, treats and booze.

■ Home-made jam. Jars of jam always go down well, as do home-made Christmas cakes and truffles.

Mis-matched chic. For a girly gift, check thrift stores and flea markets for dainty teacups and saucers, and make a quirky teaset.

■ Collage. You can easily customise anything, from picture frames to notebooks, by using a little imagination, a pile of magazines and some scissors.

■ Retro sweetie box. Buy a plastic tool box from a hardware shop and fill with old-school pic n mix, such as white mice, flying saucers and cola bottles (just don't end up eating them all!)

Adorable marshmallow snowmen will put a smile on anyone's face – use piped icing or honey to stick marshmallow bodies together, with chocolate button hats and icing features.

■ Think outside the house. You gift doesn't have to be material – promise someone a night out during the week, a trip to the seaside (perhaps when it gets warmer!) or that you will be the designated driver for the next month so they can let their hair down.

■ Mix tapes. Or mix CDs are always popular, particularly if your loved one spends lots of time in the car.

■ Winter warmer. Buy a pretty mug, fill with hot chocolate sachets, a mini whisk and tiny marshmallows. Wrap in cellophane tied with a bow.

Make it yourself: Creativity brings people together.

HAD too much to drink at the Christmas party? Can't seem to shift the sniffles?

Follow these tips for surviving seasonal ills:

INDIGESTION

Problem: Overdone it on the turkey, stuffing, mash, chocolate log, cheese and those few mince pies you nibbled on? If you're feeling bloated or have any discomfort in your chest or stomach, it's most likely due to indigestion.

What to do: Indigestion is caused by acid reflux, when the acid in your stomach escapes into your digestive system. The best way to reduce symptoms is by taking over-the-counter antacids which neutralise the acid. Eating slowly will also help. If you have indigestion frequently, you should see your doctor as it might be due to a more serious health problem.

HANGOVER Problem: It's been one

Christmas party after another, and it's finally caught up with you. If you seem to have a permanently sore head and a constant ringing in your ears, don't think the hair of the dog is going to help one bit.

What to do: Most hangover symptoms are caused by dehydration, as alcohol is a diuretic. It also eats up the body's store of vitamins and minerals, and reduces blood sugar levels – which might explain the throbbing headache. Water, and lots of it, is the best cure. In fact, following every alcoholic drink on a night out with a glass of water is said to help stave off a hangover. But if you're still suffering the next day, a thin veggie-based broth (with bouillon) should help to replace your body's lost vitamins and minerals.

FLU

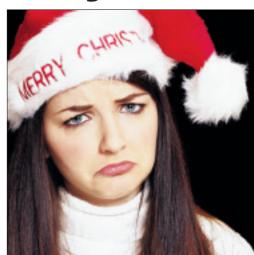

Problem: The brand new little black dress does look lovely, but after going out in it without your woolly scarf and hat, its no surprise you're now feeling under the weather. If you're coughing and spluttering and stuck in bed, you'll wish you'd followed some simple advice on how to tackle the flu.

What to do: Rest up at home by keeping warm under duvets and taking paracetamol, or Ibuprofen, which will relieve the symptoms. Drink plenty of water and herbal teas to flush out your system, and avoid caffeinated drinks like coffee as they'll just make you more dehydrated.

DRY SKIN

Problem: If make-up is a must and you've been wearing more than normal to all the seasonal parties, you might find that your skin feels tight, dry and stretched. It could also be the weather – the cold air outside and central heating inside play havoc with the body's natural oils. Sometimes it can even cause little white patches of dead skin around the nose and chin.

Oh well: Not letting people down is a key part of the festive equation.

What to do: Drink water – and herbal teas – to help keep the body rehydrated. Coffee and black tea tend to dry out the skin, so keep those to a minimum. Wash with warm – not hot – water when you bathe, as hot water extracts moisture from the skin. Always wash off any make-up at night and use a good moisturiser.

The robin is a symbol to care for

Chirpy creature: The robin could do with your help though!

traditional Christmas symbol in Britain. The red-breasted bird is often depicted on our festive greetings cards and Christmas gift wrapping.

The robin is appreciated for its splash of colour against a bleak, winter garden, as well as for its cheery nature and beautiful song. However, there is more to this chirpy creature then just cute Christmas cards of it posing on snow covered post boxes and nesting in old copper watering cans. Robins live throughout Europe (except the far north) and Western Siberia.

We notice an increased number of robins in the UK during winter months as robins in colder climates move to warmer wintering gathering grounds during the autumn. Robins who live in close proximity to people can become rather tame, especially towards

THE humble robin is a avid gardeners. Some cheeky robins have learned to take advantages of unearthed worms caused from gardeners digging and turning the soil.

Male robins are very territorial and sing to proclaim their territory – what sounds like a cheerful winter song to us is actually a warning of occupation to other robins in the area.

The birds mate and nest in late March, females build a nest from dry dead leaves and moss in crevasses in trees, wall cavities or undergrowth. Because robins don't build traditional nests with twigs and sticks and instead simply line holes and crevasses is why we hear tales about nesting in old watering cans and Wellington boots. The female lays between four and six small white to slightly blue speckled eggs which she incubates for two weeks

At two weeks old the chicks can fly. By this time the father feeds his offspring for a further three become independent at around five weeks old, meanwhile the female rears her second brood. Chicks are not born with the trademark vibrant red breast feathers. They shed their juvenile feathers to make way for their splash of red on their breasts

More than a half of the chicks die during their first vear. However, robins can live up to the ripe old age of five years, which is something to sing about as the festivities begin!

Woman's best friend: Jackie Fleming and Quattro at home.

Amazing hearing has transformed

YING on the sitting room Ifloor, snoring gently, Quattro the hearing dog is enjoying a wellearned afternoon nap. The black labrador is constant companion to mum-of-three Jackie Fleming who, born severely deaf, says Quattro has transformed her

"She's an amazing dog, I wouldn't be without her," says Jackie, bending down to give Quattro a loving pat. "Without my hearing aid I can't hear anything at all, not a single sound. I was born with impaired hearing, so I'm used to it, but it can feel a bit lonely sometimes – and a bit

"With Quattro by my side I feel safe: I know she's looking after me."

Provided by the national charity Hearing Dogs for Deaf People, Quattro acts as Jackie's ears. She is trained to alert her by touch prodding with her paw to all manner of everyday noises, from the cooker alarm to the phone and front doorbell. She can also communicate danger by quickly lying down on the floor.

'She's a very intelligent dog," says Jackie in admiration. "Having her has changed my life: I feel a lot more confident now especially about going out. It takes me a lot longer to get round Tesco these days though – everyone keeps stopping me to ask about my lovely dog."

Hearing impairment runs in Jackie's family: her mother, who lives in Witchford, is the proud owner of a hearing dog called Flynn.

"Because of my mother's hearing problems they tested me when I was about 2," recounts Jackie, settling on the sofa. "Going to school wasn't easy. I felt quite cut off from other people; I didn't have many friends. In those days hearing aids were huge: my mum had to make all my dresses herself, sewing in a special pocket on the chest for the hearing aid to go in.

You know what kids can be like: they pick on anyone who's a bit different. I had a hearing aid and glasses, so they picked on me a lot. I had my hearing aid and glasses thrown down the stairs, my hearing aid dumped in a jug of orange juice...Those are the kind of things you remember, they stay with you.

"I still feel angry about it: there's one girl in particular I could slap even now." Jackie says her secondary years were a little easier, thanks to having an older brother at the same school and a learning support worker assigned to help her with her studies. But it wasn't until she moved on to college that Jackie's confidence really began to bounce back: training in horticulture, she knew she'd found her niche.

"I knew I'd never cope in an office; whenever I go somewhere with a lot of background noise I can't hear a word of what anyone's saying – I have to rely on lip reading – and it can be very frustrating," explains Jackie, who lives in Swaffham Bulbeck. "But I loved being outside in the fresh air, working mostly on my own. It suited me. And being at college really opened me

Going on to work as a professional gardener, Jackie also had a spell as a nanny – a job which led her to meet Mark, now her husband. "He was plastering for the family I worked for," says Jackie. "We got chatting, I liked him and I asked him out; we've been together ever since.

The couple went on to have three children. Daniel, 16, Charlotte, 14, and India, 11. Although she clearly loves being a mum - there are framed photos of the kids dotted all round the room – Jackie admits the pregnancies took their toll on her hearing. "When I had the kids it did deteriorate," she explains. "I don't really know why. My mum's hearing deteriorated when she was in her 20s; it's an inherited thing.

Jackie is now totally deaf in one ear and has lost 89 per cent of hearing in her other. Thanks to a hearing aid, she is able to hear some speech as long as there's no background interference; despite an amplifier, she finds the phone a real challenge.

"If anyone speaks in a strong accent or they're a bit mumbled, I just can't work out what they're saying," she admits. "It's a bit embarrassing to admit, but I do actually put the phone down on people sometimes."

Over time, Jackie says she became more and more reliant on friends and family to do her hearing for her. "I used to rely on India, my youngest, most of all," she says. "She was the one who told me when the microwave pinged or the doorbell went."

Jackie first applied for a hearing dog more than 10 years ago. But, a real animal lover, she already had a pet collie – and the charity said she couldn't have an assistance dog too (the close bond hearing dogs form with their owners can cause a lot of friction with existing pets).

"I've always loved animals," says Jackie. "I had a pony when I was little that I adored: riding was my escape from the real world. Nowadays we've got a real menagerie: the dog, cats, rats, chickens, fish . . ."

After losing Buster, the collie, Jackie applied to Hearing Dogs for Deaf People again. This time she was successful: paired up with a new recruit, a terrier called Pip, she and the rest of the family spent a whole week at a specialist training centre learning all about hearing dogs and the way they work.

Sadly, Pip didn't pass his probation. After living and working with Jackie for several months, he had to be retired. "He was a terrier and he just barked at everything. It was a very tough decision for the whole family – we all loved him – but it just wasn't working."

After losing Pip, Jackie admits she was reluctant to take on another hearing dog. "She didn't want to go through all that again," explains Mark. "Then one day I came home from work and she had this big grin on her face; she said 'D'you want to meet our new hearing dog? . . ."

This time Jackie had been matched up with Quattro, a more mature dog who'd already worked with another woman with impaired hearing. "She couldn't keep Quattro because she'd just had a baby and getting out for walks was a problem," explains Jackie. "And Quattro and I bonded pretty much straight away: I love her to bits."

Quattro goes everywhere with Jackie. As an official assistance dog, she wears a special coat when she goes out but, even so, she has been refused entry to numerous shops. "It can be quite upsetting," admits Jackie. "And it's embarrassing too. But it really comes down to a lack of awareness: people know about guide dogs, but hearing dogs are less well-known."

Four years ago Jackie went back to college to retrain in animal care, going on to win an achievement award for Best Mature Student. Since then she has been hunting for a job, ideally as an assistant at a vet surgery.

"I went for one interview, but they thought I'd leave Quattro in a kennel while I worked – that's what I mean about a lack of awareness."

Keen to do her bit for the charity, Jackie is now treasurer of the Cambridge branch of Hearing Dogs for Deaf People. "Having Quattro has made a real difference to me: she's not only my friend, she's given me my independence. So I know what an impact having a hearing dog can have; it's amazing."

Charity is funded by donations

LAUNCHED at Crufts in 1982, the charity Hearing Dogs for Deaf People trains dogs to alert deaf people to specific sounds at home, at work and in public places.

More than 1,500 hearing dogs have been homed in England, Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland and the Channel Islands; there are more than 80 living and working in East Anglia alone. No charge is made to recipients; the charity is funded solely by donations.

There is a long waiting list for a dog: more than 650,000 people in the UK are severely or profoundly deaf – and could therefore benefit from a hearing companion.

As Jackie's story shows, hearing dogs can change lives. By giving both friendship and practical help, they provide greater independence, confidence and security.

Most of the dogs, trained first by volunteer socialisers and then on a specialist course, are selected from rescue centres or are unwanted pets – so the charity also changes the lives of abandoned dogs.

Muscling in on the competition

BODYBUILDER Stuart Thomson is hoping to move up in the gradings when he competes this weekend.

Stuart, 29, of Vanners Road, Haverhill, is following up his success in June by competing in the National Amateur Body Building Association (NABBA) event at Brierley Hill in the West Midlands.

He is taking part in the first-timers' category and a win would qualify him to take part in the Mr Britain competition next year. Success in Mr Britain could give him the chance to compete for the Mr Universe title.

He said: "I'm feeling quite confident. I've been hitting the gym hard for 22-24 weeks and for the past 12 weeks I've been going seven days a week doing cardio vascular exercises and weight training. I've also been on a strict low-carb, high protein diet."

Competitors are judged on size, proportion and symmetry in seven compulsory poses as well as a minute and half routine to music.

Aiming higher: bodybuilder Stuart Thomson will be in action again this weekend

She said the scheme was for small companies and supply chains that lack the financial reserves to fully support individuals facing redundancy. "With new investment from the FSF (European Social Fund), we expect a further 8,000 people to receive the help they need over the next year. "Despite encouraging signs of economic recovery, local businesses will continue to feel the afterrecession for months and years to come, with redundancies an unfortunate but inevitable by-product." # Cue to apply for battle of the bands

THERE'RE four weeks left to enter Riffed, Haverhill's Battle of the Bands 2011 which takes place in the new year at the arts centre. The event is sponsored by Haverhill Town Council and the winners will receive time in a recording studio and a number of other prizes

The competition also aims to give a platform to new bands who may not have had the opportunity to play before big audiences with a full PA and lighting rig.

There are also prizes for the runners up and the audience's favourite

Punk, heavy rock, grunge, melodic rock and pop have all entered the competition in previous years with winners coming from Haverhill, Saffron Walden and Great Haverhill Town Council's Arts and Leisure manager Nick Keeble said "The Battle of the Bands is a great event. We welcome applications from bands from Haverhill and the surrounding area.

"We hope to attract a mix of established groups who already have a following to play alongside new bands just starting out. Priority is given to bands based within a 15-mile radius of Haverhill and whose members are over 14 years of age.

To obtain an application form, contact: Riffed: Battle of the Bands, Haverhill Arts Centre, High Street, Haverhill, Suffolk CB9 8AR, call (01440) 712858, or email nick@haverhillartscentre.co.uk Completed application forms must be returned to Haverhill Town Council by 5pm on Thursday, December 16.

It is ideal if you can send in a tape or CD of the band with the form but this is not a statutory requirement.

Experience the real Pink Floyd Dimension

THE Pink Floyd Dimension return to The High Barn in Great Bardfield for a performance of their tribute show featuring new material.

The band has proven to be hugely popular and their recent sellout show at Saffron Walden Town Hall in October raised £900 which has been split between the Teenage Cancer Trust and The Mayor's Appeal.

The High Barn show will feature projections and lasers, and will be an opportunity for fans of the band to experience some new material from the Pink Floyd catalogue which the band have been working on.

The Pink Floyd Dimension (TPFD) were formed in 2009 to faithfully recreate the music of Pink Floyd. Featuring some of the best musicians from the Cambridge/Essex area, TPFD have set about producing the most authentic sounding Pink Floyd tribute act in the UK.

With an uncompromising ear for detail, they have dissected each element of the Pink Floyd sound, reassembling the classic works of the band in an exciting and truly inspiring live show.

A band spokesman said: "TPFD is all about the music of Pink Floyd, played by people who have grown up with and

A new take on Mikado

THE most popular Gilbert and Sullivan opera, The Mikado, is being brought to the stage this week by Cambridge Operatic Society.

The society, celebrating its centenary year, will be presenting a brand new adaptation of the immortal classic at the Arts Theatre, directed by James Hurley, whose theatre credits includes both English National Opera and Touring

The Mikado has a superb musical score featuring some of Gilbert and Sullivan's bestloved songs – including Three Little Maids from School Are We.

On the day before the opening of a radical new exhibition by the artist, Katisha, madness reigns in the Titipu Wing of the Mikado's fantastical art gallery as the penniless student Nanki-Poo fights to win the hand of Ko-Ko's ward, Yum-Yum.

The show runs until Saturday at 7.45pm each night, and 2.30pm on Saturday.

Tickets are £15 - £25 from the box office on (01223) 503333 or visit www.cambridgearts theatre.com

The big film

YOU AGAIN certificate U 101m

IF aspiring directors could learn their craft by a process similar to painting-by-numbers, combining basic and familiar elements to create something that crudely resembles a film, then You Again would be the starter kit.

Distinguished by its clumsy, linear narrative and a directorial style that is the cinematic equivalent of a weary sigh, Andy Fickman's romantic comedy is irredeemably cliched and trite Fickman is mired in a morass of revenge and retribution masquerading as female empowerment and sisterly solidarity. The film gradually sucks the life out of his cast and eventually out of us. too. Marni (Kristen Bell) secures a promotion to vice president of the New York office of her public relations company, and returns home jubilant to northern California to attend the wedding of her beloved brother, Will (James Wolk). En route, her mother Gail (Jamie Lee Curtis) reveals that Will's blushing bride-to-be is none other than the very same Joanna (Odette

You Again opens with a convincing argument for Joanna being, as Marni puts it, "Satan's spawn" but as the film progresses, we're asked to feel sorry for the bride-to-be as she gets a taste of her own bitter medicine.

First-time screenwriter Moe Jelline doesn't have the skill vet to walk this emotional tightrope so as he stumbles towards one of those resolutions that ensures every character exits with a smile on their face, we struggle to understand why they deserve our blessing.

In each of these puzzles a famous or popular quotation fills the grid. The individual letters remain in their correct column, but have fallen out and are out of order.

Reinsert them in the correct order to find the answer. Any punctuation is given in its own square.

Help our birds survive bitter winter months

irds are as important to the wildlife garden as butter is to bread, not only providing interest to budding twitchers, but helping to keep unwanted pests such as slugs and snails under control.

As their natural habitat continues to disappear, it is more important than ever to feed the birds during the winter months.

"In some cases keeping feeders topped up can mean the difference between life and death, especially for some of the smaller birds who lose heat from their bodies extremely quickly when it's really cold," says Gemma Rogers, of the Royal Society for the Protection of

But there are so many different feeders and seed types on the market, it's difficult to know which are the best

"There are a lot of nasty feeders out there which can trap beaks and feet," says Rogers, "so you need to go to a reputable supplier. And be aware that some feeders are ridiculously cheap for

by Hannah Stephenson

Never put out the nylon mesh bags containing fat as birds can become trapped in them. Go for steel mesh feeders and provide a mix of seeds to attract different

Birds require high energy, high fat foods during the cold winter weather to maintain their body reserves to survive the frosty nights. Finches are especially grateful for seeds in late winter and early spring.

In summer they love black sunflower seeds, pinhead oatmeal, soaked sultanas, raisins and currants, mild grated cheese, mealworms, waxworms, mixes for insectivorous birds and good seed mixtures without loose peanuts, on which their young could choke

Never put out loose peanuts, dry hard foods, large chunks of bread, or fats during the spring or summer months. Make sure you buy 'safe nuts' from reputable outlets and offer them in cages.

Peanuts will attract blue tits, great tits, woodpeckers and even robins if you crush the peanuts, niger seeds will encourage finches and siskins, but the more variety of food you have, the larger the range of birds you are likely to attract.

Small flocks of greenfinches can be a common sight at bird tables, sometimes queuing up with chaffinches and sparrows to take a turn at feeders.

Use bird tables to attract larger birds such as collared doves, wood pigeons and starlings.

There are also many plants you can grow to encourage birds

Traditional countryside hedges are now full of blackberries. elderberries, rosehips, haws and sloes on which the birds can feed, and you can mimic the classic hedgerow in your garden by planting a fruiting hedge.

The RSPB advises gardeners to mix rugosa roses, elder and hawthorn to act as a wild foodstore, even adding a gooseberry or bramble if there's room. If you have a large garden, try growing hazel (Corylus avellana) for its nuts and attractive catkins.

Other plants, including crab apples, ivy, box-leaved honeysuckle and cotoneaster also add glorious colour to the autumn and winter scene as well as producing fruit and berries for the birds. Avoid sterile hybrids, which won't produce seeds or fruit, but give your garden some colour and nutritious seeds for the birds by planting coneflowers, teasels and knautia macedonica.

If you have fallen apples and pears on your lawn, leave them for the song thrushes and blackbirds who will feast on them.

Let the birds make the most of nature's larder - but make sure you offer them some extra titbits to help them through the winter plants that really caught my eye against a backdrop of autumnal tints were the clusters of pink nerines, which stand out from the crowd at this time of year.

These autumn-flowering bulbs, which bloom from September and into November. have long, thin, pointed buds which rise up on bright green stems and explode into lollipops of sugar pink flowers, making a striking addition to warm borders or patio pots. Originating from South Africa, these lily-like plants do like to be in a free draining soil where they can bake The most popular variety, Nerine bowdenii, is fully-hardy but is best planted in groups against a sunny wall. Bulbs should be planted in late autumn or early spring but not too deeply - the tips should be quite close to

In cold areas, mulch clumps when they have finished flowering to give extra protection against frost, and feed in summer with a high-potash fertiliser to boost flower production. If you plant them in pots, use a loambased compost such as John Innes No 2 and water well when they are growing strongly.

Agent celebrates 185th anniversary of firm

CHEFFINS estate agent is celebrating its 185th anniversary this year.

The company, which has offices in High Street, Haverhill, and across the region, first appeared as an auctioneer in Bishop's Stortford in 1825, started by Joshua Cheffins.

It remained a family business until the death of Henry Joshua Cheffins, the grandson of the founder of the firm, in 1922.

Today, Cheffins still serves as an auctioneer in addition to offering expert property services in all types of property and real estate.

Haverhill branch manager

Jamie Warner said: "It's fantastic to have the backing of a strong firm during hard economic times as it has already stood the test of time. "After 185 years in the business we are still providing fantastic service and advice." For further details, contact Cheffins on

875cc engine for Fiat 500

TwinAir is just £10,665

THE FIAT 500 TWINAIR: Bluetooth and iPod

l car sales 01353 862999 OVER 150 CARS IN STOCK!!

Text 'LGC' to 60300 to get a full stock list

Unit 2A Saxon Business Park, A10 By Pass, Littleport, Cambs CB6 1XX

IN the years of twin cylinders and very austerity following modest 875cc the Second World War, when rationing was still in force, several car makers in both the UK and abroad experimented with putting motorcycle engines in small cars. The lack of a reverse gear and the advent of the flourishing Fifties soon put paid to such an economy-driven idea, but what goes around, comes around - just ask Fiat.

The Italian maker powered its original 500 microcar with a tiny two-cylinder 479cc engine back in 1957 and the 13bhp unit served the iconic 10 foot-long city runabout well.

Now, here in 2010, comes the 500 TwinAir - an 85bhp unit that motorcycle proportions with its displacement.

It weighs just 85kg, as 95g/km C02 emissions that sidestep Britain's road tax levy, and. with the automatic - robotised, Fiat calls it – gearbox, it can return 70.6 miles on a gallon of unleaded fuel. Even the five-speed manual 500 TwinAir does 68.9mpg.

But this is very much an engine of the future. and not the past - this t e c h n o l o g i c a l l y advanced powerplant is the cleanest quantity production petrol engine in the world, yet it still manages to come up with impressive performance figures of 0-62mph in 11 seconds, and a top speed of 108mph.

The TwinAir's green credentials and power compares favourably with many rivals' diesel

Even set against

Fiat's own best-selling 1.2-litre petrol engine in the 500, the TwinAir delivers more oomph and a 15 per cent cut in both CO2 emissions and fuel consumption.

It is about to hit British showrooms, and the Fiat 500 TwinAir is priced £10,665 in Pop specification. frugal two-cylinder will be available across the Fiat 500 and Fiat 500C, or convertible, ranges in all trim levels.

And there will soon be 65bhp and turbocharged 105bhp versions of the same two-cylinder unit, all of which will be produced at Fiat's Bielsko-Biala plant in Poland.

The Fiat 500 TwinAir comes with a stop-start fuel-saving system as standard, and there is also an eco-fitment, which allows drivers to choose either a more economical, or a more responsive, driving

Handy Anders has Hawks flying

Benwick Ath 0 Hundon Hawks 13

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12D ANDERS Pilley plundered four goals as Hawks went on the rampage at

In an outstanding team performance, Pilley took his tally to 13 goals from nine games this season as the visitors eased to their eighth win in nine games.

Jake Ryan and Brenhan Ince cashed in with hat-tricks and Andre Henrique scored twice. Harry Sargent, who has formed a deadly strike partnership with Pilley, completed the scoring with his 12th of the season.

Haverhill Roy 1 Godmanchester Roy 4

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13A TWO clinical goals towards the end of the first half ended Haverhill Rovers'

They had fallen behind to a goal midway through the first half but managed to equalise when a pinpoint passing move, originating from Will Bailey, led to Jack Trowbridge putting over a cross that Chidera Nkem Paul stabbed home.

They had chances to get back into the game after the break. Will Bailey's free kick caused mayhem in a crowded six-yard box before the ball fell to Billy Bush, whose instinctive shot was blocked on the line.

However, a fourth goal on the break sealed the points.

Willingham Wolves 0 Kedington Youth 4

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13C THE Willingham keeper was all that stood between Kedington and an early goal rush

However, the visitors broke the

Kitted out: West Wratting under-13s in their new APS Anglia Partitions-sponsored kit deadlock just before half time when skipper Jason Moore slotted home and they pulled away early in the second Man-of-the-match Cameron Kidd sparked the move which led to Conor Rankin tapping in the second and the same player made it 3-0 minutes later.

However, the fourth stemmed from a real team effort which started at the back, and from a corner, George Mustoe volleyed home.

Newmarket Tn B 0 West Wratting 10

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14B WEST Wratting created history at Newmarket when nine of the outfield players used got on the scoresheet

Man of the match Mark Coulson scored twice with the other goals coming from Alex Horscroft, Robert Foster, Harvey Scotton, Harry Wilson, Rory Jebb, Ryan Cooper, Earle Lambert and George Sheath.

Withersfield 4 Milton 8

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14A MILTON'S aerial ability at set pieces proved pivotal in a goal feast.

Withersfield took the lead when Aiden Course rounded the keeper and slotted home but Milton went 2-1 up before Withersfield equalised from the penalty spot.

However, two further goals before the break and another two soon after put Milton in the driving seat before Mitchell Burr pulled a goal back to make it 6-3.

Further goals from a rebound and a breakaway saw Milton stretch clear before Burr concluded the scoring. West Wratting 5 Chatteris A 0

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A TWO goals from the energetic Zak Ollington helped TheSafebox.co.uksponsored side move up to fourth

Man of the match, skipper Matt

Burley, hit a post early in the game before opening the scoring but it was not until the verge of half time that Cameron Biggs scored the second with a cracking long-range free kick.

Playing a more expansive game after the break, Tom Pinker lashed home a shot from distance and Biggs hit the bar before Ollington struck, his second coming as a result of Jack Child's impressive work.

They had them on the back foot from the kick off, and were promptly rewarded with goals from Tyler Thurgood, Luke Wood and a powerful header from Callum Hayes.

Rangers pulled one back but Hector Corey restored the three-goal cushion within minutes and Toby Goodship rounded off a brilliant first half with a sublime curling shot.

Goodship and Thurgood scored their second goals to foil Sutton's attempts to keep the score down and Alastair Green rounded it off from

ALTHOUGH Hundon took an early lead through Tyler Bell, Saffron Walden bounced back to go 3-1 clear.

Hundon, however, stuck to their guns and, with the defence organised by George Pilley, Nicholas Winfield pulled a goal back to make it a grandstand finish.

Man for all seasons!

DENNIS Harkness has won the Millenium Trophy, the two-legged competition organised by the Association of Suffolk Golf Captains.

The Haverhill vice-president scored 37 points in the spring meeting at Rookery Park, near Lowestoft.

He then accumulated the identical score in the autumn meeting at Waldringfield to secure victory overall.

■ Andrew Fish was three shots clear in the men's midweek medal competition where, because of the difficult conditions, the competition scratch score was raised to 73.

Fish's gross score of 73 also helped trim his handicap to four.

Details - Division One: 1 Andrew Fish 74-5-69, 2 Jonathan Moore 83-11-72, 3 Edward Fairhead 85-12-73. Division Two: 1 Ivan Drury 89-16-73 on countback from 2 Steve Piotrowski 89-16-73, 3 Dave Nicholas 92-18-74. Division Three: 1 David Burns 105-28-77, 2 Ken Johnson 101-23-78, 3 Mark Everitt 106-28-78.

However, the women's medal match was not so clear cut, Lyn Fish winning with a score of 101-25-76 from midweek medal winner Jacqueline Condon (96-19-77) and Mary Sail (97-17-80).

White hot!

DETERMINATION and commitment in training have paid off for Danie White, who has won a silver medal at the National Tang Soo Do championships. White, a member of the Tang Soo Do club at Haverhill, took up the classical martial art four vears ago and, under the guidance of club instructor Craig Philip, has made rapid progress.
The 13-year-old red belt, a Year 9 pupil at the King's School Ely, is considered a senior, which offers the opportunity of extra instruction with a Tang Soo Do Master, which will help him working towards his ambition of achieving a black belt.

Hundon have the leaders on edge to keep boss happy

HUNDON boss Rod Gaffan was far from downhearted after watching his side lose 2-1 to runaway Kershaw League, Premier Division leaders Lakenheath.

Goals after 20 and 55 minutes seemed to put the visitors in a strong position, but Craig Cutts pulled a goal back for the strugglers 10 minutes from time.

the strugglers 10 minutes from time.
Gaffan said: "It was another great performance. We battled hard and worked hard, and the last two results against the two top sides are very encouraging."

Hundon remain at the bottom of the table while Lakenheath now have a 10-point lead.

West Wratting made their exit from the Cliff Bullen Challenge Cup after a 2-1 defeat at Great Shelford.

In a frantic final five minutes, Danny Hills reduced the deficit and both Tom Day and Ricky Baker were foiled by home keeper Phil Peachey as they pushed for an equaliser.

Craig Fleming, the Wratting boss, said:
"It was a game of two halves, the difference being when they were on top they took their chances."

Dalton strikes to fire Rovers

Ely City 0 Haverhill Rov 1

Ridgeons League, Premier Division

DALTON O'Brien scored the only goal of the game as Haverhill Rovers scored their second 1-0 win in a matter of days on Tuesday.

Marc Abbott went close for Haverhill and Adam Dalby almost scored for City in a goalless first half.

O'Brien then struck, heading home in the 52nd minute, and Rovers held on despite late pressure to cement their place among the division's leading pack.

Rovers take on Mildenhall – who beat league leaders Dereham and neighbours Newmarket Town this week - on Saturday.

Wivenhoe Tn 0 Haverhill Roy 1

Ridgeons League, Premier Division HAVERHILL continued their good form with a narrow win against a physically strong Wivenhoe side.

Rovers had the edge in a goalless first half, but just before the break Wivenhoe were reduced to 10 men when one of their players was sent off for stamping on Marcus Hunt.

Louis Harper then netted the decisive goal – against his former club – in the 60th minute with a left-foot shot that flew into the corner.

"It was a good away win," said boss Peter Betts.

"Wivenhoe is a hard place to go."
